Dear Mr. Stevens:

Thank you for your letter of January 7.

In checking, I find that Mr. Dulles did have such a pouch that he has been unable to locate since his return.

I'm reasonably sure the one you mention is his and he will be very pleased to see it once again.

Once again, thanks very much for your courtesy in letting us know you found it.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

Assistant to the Director

STAT Dear [redacted]:

Did Mr. Dulles leave a red and blue silk tobacco pouch here in Mr. Armstrong's office last evening? I found it here this morning and supposed it was too late to reach Mr. Dulles here in New York.

Yours sincerely,

Walter H. Stevens
